

67th Annual Silver & Turquoise Ball

WHEN THIS ELEGANT EVENT FIRST BEGAN IN 1950, Harry Truman was president of the United States, Walt Disney's animated classic Cinderella had just been released, and the beloved comic strip Peanuts was first published.

Hosted by the Silver & Turquoise Board of Hostesses, the Silver & Turquoise Ball raises funds for the preservation and restoration of Mission San Xavier del Bac, one of our region's most stunning treasures.

Guests will be welcomed by Scottish pipes, treated to a gourmet dinner, and be entertained by a dance band. A late-night cabaret will cap off the evening.

Notes Susie Christy, the 2017 Ball Chair, "I believe the continuation of traditions is one of the most important things we can do to bring the memories from the past into the future."

Indeed, this glamorous night has historical connections. Included among the board's most distinguished members have been Isabella Greenway, the first U.S. Congresswoman in Arizona history and founder of the Arizona Inn; Peggy Steinfeld, the family behind Steinfeld's Department Store; and Aurora Patania, wife of the famed jewelry designer Frank Patania, Sr., whose intricate silver and turquoise creations once adorned the women who attended the ball.
